

Happy 2017 !

Dear guests, Dear readers, Dear friends,

For an astrologer, using annual wishes is not, , a simple social convention, more or less, awkward ..And it is even less for an astrologer in love with the imaginary world of J.R.R. Tolkien and the Hobbits populating The Shire ...As the return cycle of the Sun ,in its lowest point, during the Winter solstice, shows so well the beginning of an ascent, a revival, a promise we must realize some of its potentialities, in the forthcoming year . Of course, wishes can't change either the world or our lives; they guide however our spirit through enlightened thoughts. They also fill our hearts with a constructive energy, deeply rooted in our culture. They are essential to our current world according to the morbid and suicidal trends he has to face..

To all the readers , guests and friends, of the site I send you my best wishes for 2017

These wishes are also an opportunity to conclude how fruitful this past year have been for the site. First, the number of visitors increased from 188,000 at the beginning of 2016 to 220,000 at the end of same year, an increase of 32,000, meaning almost 3,000 visitors per month. I remain that the site, launched on January 12, 2008, increased to over 100,000 visitors in 2013 and reached 200,000 visitors in 2016. This without publicity or support of any kind.

But above all, by the end of 2016, the site had undergone both a major remodeling and a new expansion. The remodeling: the two-section cut (Headings and Reviews) disappeared, all articles are now accessible in one of the six existing publications in French: Revue d'astrologie mondiale, Bulletin d'astrologie mondiale, Revue d'astrologie mondiale-Histoire, Etudes astrologiques, Revue de cyclologie traditionnelle, Les Cahiers de la Lune Bleue. Expansion: this whole system composed of six journals is now doubled by the birth of six analogous journals in English: Journal of Mundane Astrology, Bulletin of Mundane Astrology, Journal of Mundane Astrology-History, Astrological Studies, Journal of Traditional Cyclology, Journal of the Blue Moon. Of course, all the articles haven't yet been translated – this is far from the reality ! - but each month new translations will gradually fill the columns of these six new magazines in English. A dream of years which has now become true. I express my gratitude to the people who have made this essential change possible, and now the writings on this site are eligible for an audience throughout the world thanks to the English-language vehicle.

So welcome to our future readers from the Anglo-Saxon worlds, German-Scandinavian, Slavic, European and Latin America, visitors from Africa, Asia and everywhere else!

This expansion of the site takes place in a global context that is marked, at the beginning of 2017, by a final manifestation of the square Uranus-Pluto, reinforced by the transit of Jupiter in opposition of Uranus. Since 2008, a whole phase of "global chaos", leading from 2015 to what I called an "explosive mutation". At the same time, there is the manifestation of the Uranus-Neptune ascendant semi-square, which creates a climate of schizophrenia, denial of reality and confusion between the virtual and the real. The period 2017-2021 is likely to be very dangerous for balance and peace in the world. In any case, it is likely that the international landscape will be radically changed after the triple Jupiter-Saturn-Pluto conjunction of 2020. We will have ample opportunity to clarify all this through the regular publication of our Bulletin of Mundane Astrology. As for the two magazines (JMA and JTC), they aim to gain height, working on the long duration of the History of Civilizations and that of the great traditional cycles that mark the Ages of the World in a whole series of Traditions around the world. The present moment, we are all living, then takes its meaning from a long, long history that leads to a reflection of a metaphysical order.
